Footpath Warden's very brief Report

Thank you Devon County Council Countryside officers for:-

New combined Cattle and Pedestrian gate at East Membury Farm.

Repairs on paths near Beckford Bridge.

New sign at James Lane,
and their advice to me, a novice warden.

At Hare's Farm walkers sometimes get lost so the owners have been given extra way markers to guide Ramblers.

We have some of the finest walks in East Devon, if you haven't yet been out and about exploring the paths you have missed out on one of life's great pleasures.

Most Ramblers respect the CODE; field gates, dog control, respect for privacy, keeping to the paths, i.e. commonsense and courtesy. In return Land Owners are expected to maintain and keep ancient rights of way free from obstruction.

When you are out on the paths, if you see something that needs attention please tell me. If you mentioned it before and no action has happened remind me and I will chase it up.

Links with Wardens in neighbouring Parishes are being established.

Work on a revised "Walks around Membury" leaflet have begun thanks to Terry Worsley
